THE 1952
LION

Foreword

A characteristic of the human race is the tendency to preserve eternally those things in life that impress us as being of importance. History perpetuates the memory of our great crises; literature preserves the masterpieces of great men and women; sculpture and art causes our heroes to live forever. Our 1952 "Lion" attempts to perform all these functions — it portrays our school and social life, presents our heroes, academic and athletic, and causes our classmates and teachers to remain always in our memories.

The class of 1952 has been the recipient of a conscientious effort on the part of the leaders of our schools to impart a clear understanding of the value of scholarship, character, truth and good citizenship. Our lives will indicate how well our leaders have succeeded. We go into life with the rich heritage of the past, and as we go, it is my hope that we all will succeed even beyond the expectations of our ambitions.

Sincerely yours,
Betty Claire Burnside
Editor of 1952 Lion

Dedication

Greenville Senior High School is Mr. Flewharty's dream come true. For months, when the plans were only white lines on a set of blue prints, he was already walking in the halls, seeing the desks, hearing the recitation of the classes. We moved into our new school in September but he was already firmly settled. Every room had been considered by him and had been changed many times before it was satisfactory.

While we are still marveling at the wonders of our new school, a symphony of construction come alive in a gorgeous array of pastel colors, Mr. Flewharty is still walking the halls now definite and no longer merely a dream house. Old and new students alike look to him for advice, friendship or someone to talk over their problems with. Finding him usually involves quite a bit of "research" or, more correctly, "search." He may be found discussing the installation of pipes or fixtures with the superintendent, food problems with the cafeteria staff, attending a board meeting or a civic function. His eye is ever alert for the favorable points of student body or school as well as ways of improving them.

Because of his devotion and unsparing use of his many talents, we dedicate the 1952 LION to Principal J. H. Flewharty.

To the Student Body:

Guided by knowledge of the past and inspired by ambitions for the future, the youth of your generation has both the opportunity and responsibility for building a better world of tomorrow; a world featuring improved human relations and freedom and equality which have in the past been denied to many.

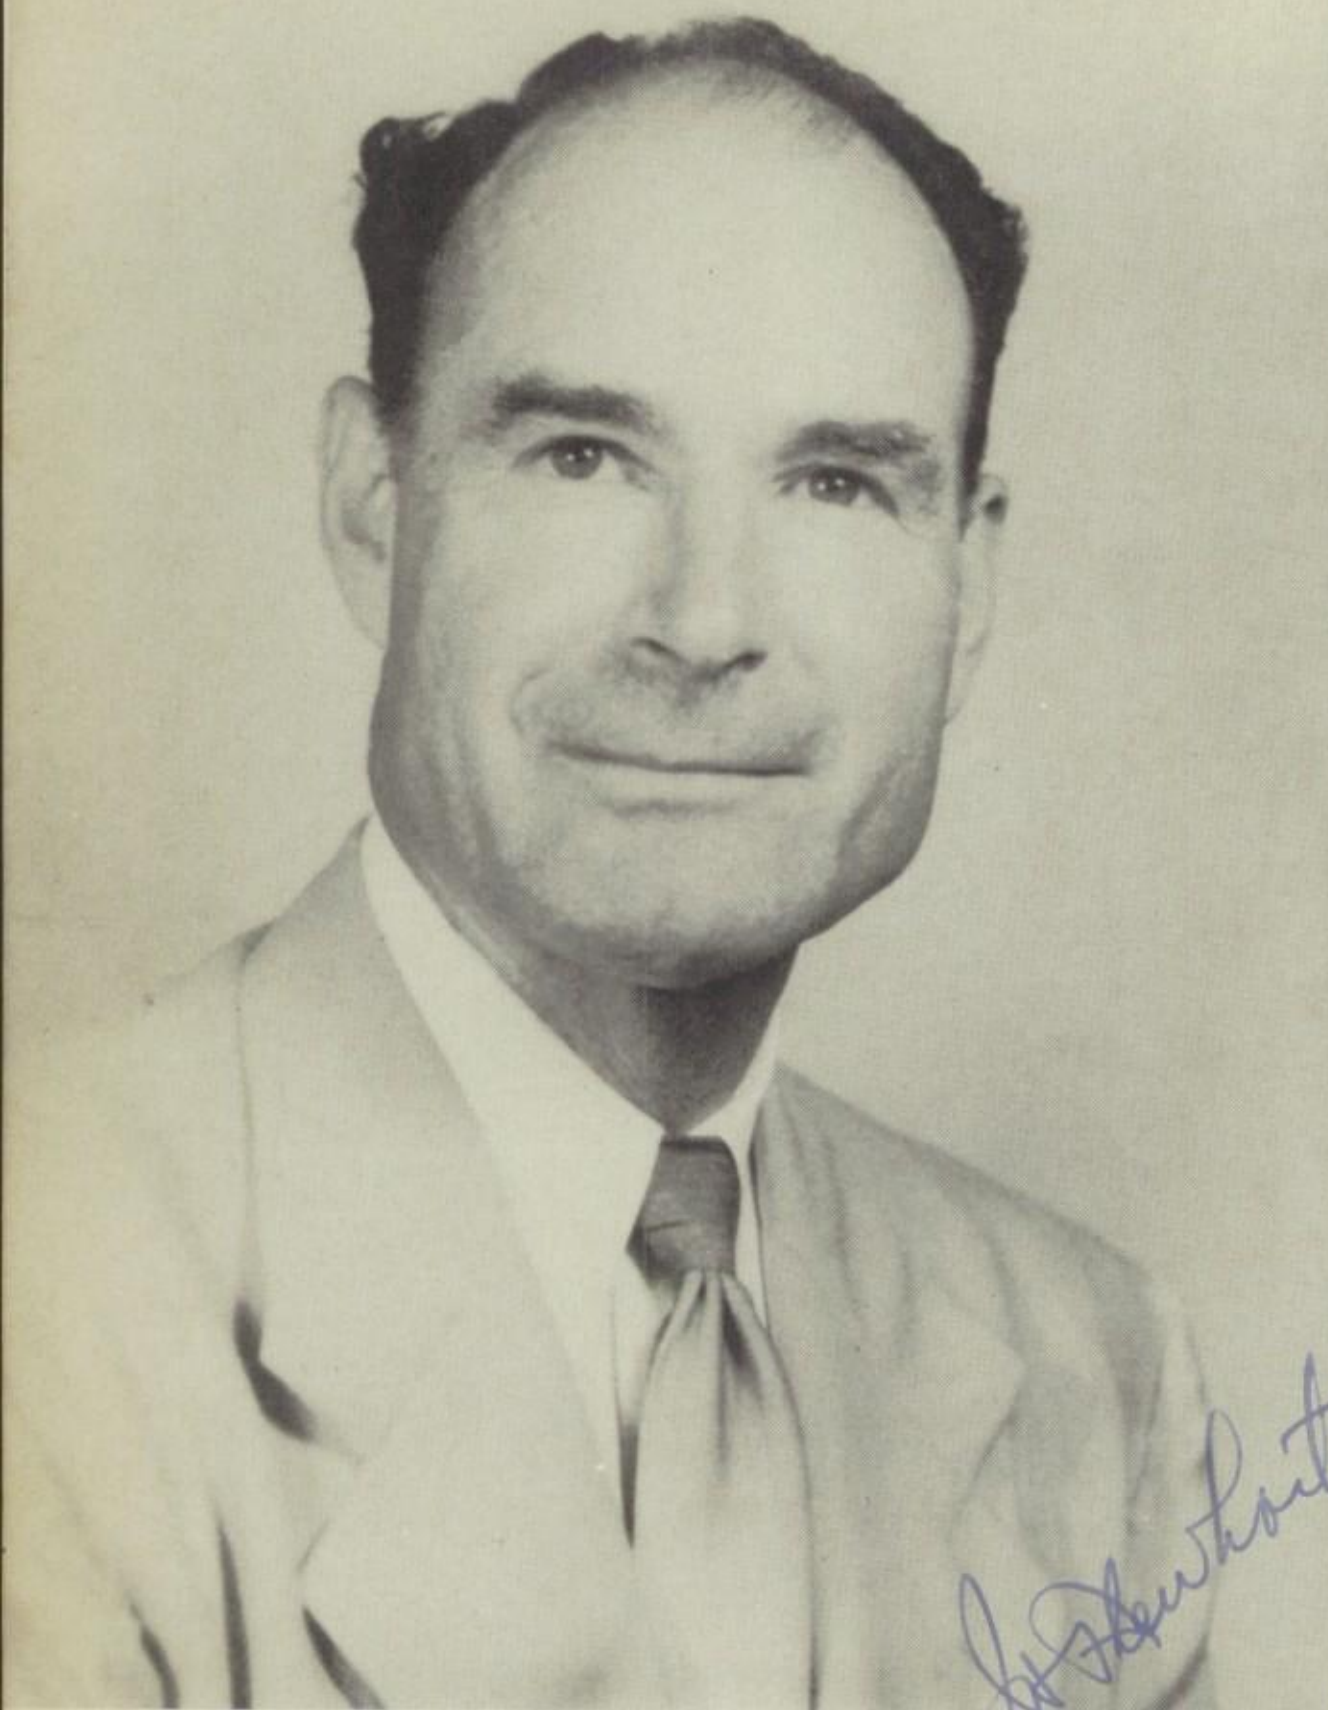

Tradition points the path; hope sets the goal; but labor achieves the reward. Your future is but a continuation of your present so be constructively active. May your school days be the origin of a bright trail on the page of history.

This yearbook should picture the happy memories which will inspire you to a fuller life.

Sincerely yours,

Ray D. Brown

Dear Seniors of 1952:

Principal

As your school days are drawing to a close and your minds are filled with future plans, may each of you resolve to ever be mindful of your duties as citizens of this great land of ours. The attributes of worthy citizenship and right living are most worthwhile and we hope you have learned those lessons well.

We have enjoyed having you in high school and wish for each of you a happy and prosperous life ahead.

Sincerely yours,

J. H. Flewharty
